

VERNET-LES-BAINS: RUDYARD KIPLING, the ENTENTE CORDIALE MONUMENT, and the ANGLICAN CHURCH

Rudyard Kipling stayed in Vernet-les-Bains in 1910, 1911, 1914 and 1926. By 1910, he was already well-known in France, following the award to him of the Nobel Prize for Literature and the success of the French version of The Jungle Book.

An article by Sam Collett about Kipling's visits to Vernet is available here:

https://walks-vernetlesbains-canigou.eu/english/collett_kipling.pdf

The text of a letter written by Kipling in 1911, in praise of Vernet's mountain, Canigou, can be seen here (it follows a French translation):

https://walks-vernetlesbains-canigou.eu/english/canigou_kipling.pdf

A short story by Kipling, called Why snow falls at Vernet and written while Kipling was in the town in 1911, can be seen here (with a French translation):

https://walks-vernetlesbains-canigou.eu/english/snow_kipling.pdf

A description of Vernet in 1911 by the English writer Vincent Scott O'Connor can be seen here (it follows a French translation):

https://walks-vernetlesbains-canigou.eu/english/oconnor_vernet.pdf

Vernet-les-Bains is the only settlement in France with a monument to the 1904 Entente Cordiale between France and Britain. Information about this monument (partly in English) is available here:

https://walks-vernetlesbains-canigou.eu/english/entente_cordiale.pdf

A website about the Anglican church in Vernet, and its English bells ("the only ring of bells in France hung for English change ringing"), is here:

<https://www.stgeorgevlb.com/>

Alan Mattingly
alan.mattingly@wanadoo.fr
walks-vernetlesbains-canigou.eu
<https://alanmattingly.eu>
2023